

BD Vancouver Updates — Synopsis, Action Items & App Points

Meeting: “BD Vancouver Updates” · 3 September 2026, 11:02 AM · 1 h 11 min · Teams Prepared: Ian Lalonde, from the Teams transcript (Downloads, not filed in the repo) · For: the BD group Attendees: Omar Alcazar (chair), Jim DesRoches, John Markulin (JM), John Bryson (JB), Rory Beirne (the transcript’s “Speaker 1”), Islam Shabana, Conor Murtagh, Ian Lalonde.

Verified 7 September against the BD brain, Apollo, Hunter, the public web, and a second listen to the recording itself (faster-whisper large-v3-turbo over the eleven name-critical windows, once without and once with a vocabulary hint); the resolutions and what each rests on are in §6, and §5 says what is still open.

How to read this. Every firm and person was checked against the BD brain. #N is the canonical org id, kp=N the KOR projects on record with that org, Deltek a linked client. [conf: High/Med/Low] is confidence in the name, because the audio garbled several. Section 5 is the unknowns: what was said that neither our records nor anything public can confirm. Please answer those before anyone acts on them.

1. Synopsis

The owner’s-rep channel (Omar). Omar’s contact at Colliers (Colliers Project Leaders, #70132 — name not given, see §5) is moving from tenant-improvement work into owner’s-representative roles and will have a say in team selection on four public jobs: a Surrey arena (early; Colliers is bidding to be owner’s rep), the BC Cancer Vancouver office expansion (early, still to go to Council, then out to bid — the brain already holds the CM-services and prime/architectural RFPs, opportunities 23642 and 23643), the Delta Aquatic Centre (team already set; Omar offered value-engineering or peer review as the way in) and a BCIT lab. She offered to set up a lunch with the civic/municipal recreation director and, with a warning that he will ask “what’s in it for us”, an intro to her private-sector lead. Omar’s ask of the room: how do we get ahead of these before the tenders land. Ian’s answer: a single coordinated target list of the health-sector prime architects (Fraser Health, VCH, BC Cancer work), with talking points, one owner per contact so three people do not call the same architect.

Lists and qualifications. We are not yet on the Fraser Health list; the window closes before November and the “you’re on” notice could come any day, so the architects we would team with should be warmed now. The K-12 seismic (SMP) list still needs the EGBC SRG course — Omar is taking it next week; after that an NDA opens their project database. JB has, after considerable pain, got KOR onto Stantec’s (#38934, Deltek) qualified-supplier list. Ian: the Port Authority is the same shape, be on the seismic lists and the doors open.

Events as the way in. Perkins&Will (#69688, Deltek, 38 people on file) hold a client-appreciation party on 10 September; nobody has an invite. Omar is asking an architect friend, Rory will ask “Ike” (P&W, did the “bonus” job), Jim is emailing P&W’s Chief Marketing Officer, JM knows Luciano Siffredi (Project Architect, at P&W since 2024, before that Boniface Oleksiuk Politano) and Ryan Bragg, Principal [conf: Med]. Graham’s client-appreciation night is 1 October at the Georgia Hotel — Conor has one invite through a friend and is trying for two more. Ian will produce an events list for Omar.

Pitching Stantec and DIALOG as overflow/specialty support. JB suggested using the new Stantec credential to pitch their Vancouver structural group. Jim: the way that worked with DIALOG in Edmonton was to talk to the engineering group, not the architects, position KOR as the go-to for specialties they lack (renovation upgrades, load-bearing steel stud, wood frame) and for overload, and accept that it starts with the small work to get the big work. Decision: Omar and Islam run it (Islam knows their Edmonton people and has the PhD), not JB.

A service line nobody is selling: seismic assessments and change-of-use. Omar was asked to assess an old office building for conversion to a hotel under the Vancouver bylaw (S3 upgrade thresholds); he has a hotel developer buying buildings around Coal Harbour with the same need. JB: these jobs run to six figures once coring, deterioration and upgrades follow. Jim: quote the report only, never the downstream. Rory: we already do these (an early-years school change-of-use with Islam) and the website lists expert opinions and assessments; put a blurb about office-to-hotel/residential conversions on the site and LinkedIn. Jim: the people who know about a building about to change hands are the brokers, so this is what we offer Colliers in return, “call us for due diligence”. Also from Omar: NDY (mechanical, not in the brain) will refer seismic-restraint work on TI jobs when no one is on board, a small repeatable line.

Jim’s report. Coffee on Wednesday 2 Sept with Thomas Lee of GBL (#54190, Deltek), at Aquilini’s prompting, after KOR submitted a claim for extra fees on Block B to Aquilini (#147, kp=36) on Friday 28 Aug: “I think it got everybody’s attention, including the architect.” Jim did not say what the extras were or the amount. GBL is doing three of the blocks at the Heather Lands; KOR is on Block B and GBL also has Blocks A and C. Aquilini has said KOR gets a shot at Block A, which is changing and getting larger, a large tower. Aquilini wants an A-team it can hand most of its work to. Giovanni at Aquilini asked “can you design without transfers”, which Jim is turning into a presentation (from the code-update deck) for Aquilini’s and GBL’s offices, with JM and Omar; goal is Blocks A and C, which Jim understands WHM (#69332, Teams heard “Wiki Meverhurst”) currently hold: “which I find a bit surprising, and I know we can outperform them.” (Public record: GBL’s Parcel B at 620 West 35th is three towers of 24, 20 and 12 storeys, 612 homes; whether Jim’s Blocks A, B and C are those three is his to say.) Thomas raised Fraser Mills — Beedie (#66, kp=20), three parcels, three teams in a tryout; JM: we bid two Beedie jobs a year or two ago and are doing three towers for them in West Vancouver, so we may be one of the three. A proposal on the Island for BAM (Ben Smith, ex-Starlight, not yet in the brain) for a seniors-housing client, Trillium, produced a warm intro to Continuum Architecture (Victoria, #927758): Jeremy Beintema (Partner) and Gregory Eeman (Architect AIBC). The partners are Beintema and Wil Wiens. Ian’s intel: Continuum is the 2020 rebrand of KPL James (Victoria’s oldest practice); founder Tony James died in October 2024, do not raise it. San Diego: a referral to a three-tower owner produced a US$1M proposal that turned out to be leverage against an incumbent; a wood-frame RFP in San Diego goes in this week. MVE (#76952, Deltek): the AI demo landed, their insurance-update request suggests requalification; visit around the LA Tall Building Conference in November.

Other pursuits. Lunch with Mike Alivojvodic of CDA (#7, kp=8) on 11 September; Jim will cold-call Michael De Cotiis (President & CEO, Pinnacle International, #53665, CRM #11, a June pursuit) for lunch after the long weekend. Arcadis (#153): after last week’s meeting with Terry Gray, follow up while they are bringing BD to Edmonton; JM knows Gwyn Vose (Vancouver lead, 10 to 15 towers together) and will call him; Clement Pun and Mariam are on the Reliance Broadway towers with Rory. MCM Architects (#77714) are everywhere with PCI and transit; JM works with Peter Odegaard, a Partner there; last year’s presentation reached only juniors. Calgary: JM keeps not going; Islam is arranging meetings for late September and will tell him to get on the plane; JM will reach Anthem (#207, kp=72) and GGA (#8129) himself. Kelowna (Conor): met four groups; Mission Group (#193) then lost the contact, Stefan Hertel (Development Manager; the brain already carries his affiliation as retired), two weeks later; Berry Architecture + Associates (#68976, Red Deer firm, new Kelowna studio led by Carlos Gamez Ruiz) needs JM’s intro; Lauren Macaulay (Principal, Arcadis Kelowna; Conor says “Arcadis, I met with Lauren”) owes three developer intros and JM was her first client, so press her. JM to phone Brad Burnett at ITC (#70926), Omar’s repeated ask. Lost: GEC wood frame (Edmonton), “the turn” undecided, “Kent Arroyo” townhouses (see §5). Rory: Rize’s (#16) Cambie and Marine tower is stalled on Chinese capital and Rize is going GC-for-hire; the concrete side is in a holding pattern, “hopefully next year”.

Bookkeeping. Jim still keeps the BD spreadsheet in Teams. Ian: everything from its last iteration is in the CRM but nobody works it; Omar becomes (co-)gatekeeper of inbound opportunities; Jim has an old build and no working access; Ian will distil this meeting, send Rory the Island material and the Continuum contacts, and load it all. Standard details are cleaned up with an approval flow to a master (Rory wants them); the engineering tool has matured a dozen revisions since JM saw it.

2. Decisions

- Stantec pitch is Omar and Islam’s, to Stantec’s engineering group, on the DIALOG Edmonton model.
- Seismic-assessment / change-of-use work is a service line to promote, starting with Colliers and existing clients; quote report only first.
- Jim builds the “no transfers” presentation and takes it to Aquilini and GBL with JM and Omar.
- Omar is the gatekeeper of inbound opportunities in the app; the Teams spreadsheet is to be retired once Jim is on the app.
- Health-sector architect outreach is coordinated through one list, one owner per contact.

4. Points for the app build

Distilled from what the room asked for or bumped into, not from what I would like to build.

1. Partners cannot see it. Jim is on an old build with no working access, and still enters BD into the Teams spreadsheet. Until every partner is on the current build the spreadsheet will not die. A push-update or a hosted view is the fix, not another walkthrough.
2. A gatekeeper needs a queue. Omar as (co-)gatekeeper implies a triage view: new inbound, owned, next action due, stale. The June “lock each lead to one owner” rule is still a rule in prose; the coordination problem Ian described (three people calling one architect) is exactly what an owner lock prevents.
3. Events are a first-class thing. The way in on this call was a party three times over (P&W 10 Sept, Graham 1 Oct, LA Tall Building in Nov, CDA lunch 11 Sept). The app has no events entity, no “who is invited”, no reminder. Ian promised an events list by hand; that should be a feature.
4. Qualification rosters with deadlines. Fraser Health (closes before Nov), SMP seismic (course first, then NDA), Stantec qualified supplier (done), MVE insurance requalification, Port Authority lists. These are the doors; the app should hold each roster with status, owner and date, and nag.
5. Per-person digests. Ian will “distil and send pertinent information to people” by hand again. The CRM knows the owner of each engagement; it should produce each person’s action list so the next synopsis is generated, not written.
6. Surface what the app already knows. The room discussed the BC Cancer Vancouver expansion as a future; the prime-consultant RFP was already ingested (opportunity 23643). A “you talked about X, here is what we hold” step, even a manual one before each BD meeting, closes that gap.
7. Person moves are a signal. Ben Smith (Starlight → BAM), Luciano (→ Perkins&Will), Stephanie (left Mission Group), Brian Kapuscinski (Continuum → BJK, already recorded). Each move opened or closed a door on this call. The app needs a “moved to” action on a person, taken from a meeting note, and Starlight’s 112-person list should stop showing Ben Smith as current.
8. Never show the wrong Continuum again. In the meeting Ian read “Peter Fair” from Continuum Partners (Denver, #74300) while the room meant Continuum Architecture (Victoria, #927758). The two rows were split that same day. Search results and dossier headers must carry city and Kind so a same-name firm cannot be read for another.
9. Change-of-use and building-sale signals. The new service line needs its own feed: Vancouver change-of-use permits and S3 triggers, commercial listings, brokers (Colliers). Owner’s-rep RFPs are already coming in through the tender sources; the conversion market is not.
10. Service-line tags. Seismic assessment, peer review, value engineering, TI seismic restraint, wood frame, steel stud. Tag opportunities and orgs by what we could sell them, so “who needs an S3 assessment” is a query.

11. Brain hygiene found while checking this meeting (all live, all visible in the integrity report’s duplicate classes): DIALOG in 9 rows, Beedie in 8, BCIT in 4, Vancouver Fraser Port Authority in 3 (Developer and Buyer twins), WHM in 2, MCM in 2, PHSA in 2, and KPL James Architecture (#54444) still live beside Continuum Architecture (#927758), which is its 2020 rebrand. People: Mike Alivojvodic ×3 rows, Jeremy Beintema ×2. Missing entirely: NDY, BAM; Colliers Project Leaders is Kindred Architect. Missing people: Thomas Lee, Principal or Associate Principal depending on the source (GBL); Giovanni Gunawan, Development Manager (Aquilini Development); Gregory Eeman, architect (Continuum); Peter Odegaard, Partner (MCM); Fred Lin, Development Manager (Rize); Luciano Siffredi, Project Architect (Perkins&Will); Robert Bosa (Bosa Properties founder); Ben Smith (BAM); Ike (P&W), Salim and Mariam (Arcadis), Brian Webster and Mike Balza (Solterra) unresolved. Add them through the enrichment path, not by hand. All of these are one --create or one --pairs batch each now that those paths exist.

5. Unknowns — CRM gaps for Ian to close one-to-one, not questions for the room

None of these blocks an action. The three that matter for the records are Ben Smith’s company (a KOR proposal is out to it: ask Jim), Ike’s surname (ask Rory) and the Colliers contact’s name (ask Omar). The rest are noted so nobody re-researches them.

1. Omar’s Colliers contact: her name, and whether she is at Colliers Project Leaders (#70132) or Colliers International (#5096).
2. Perkins&Will: a surname for Ike, Rory’s contact who did the “bonus” job; there is no Ike or Isaac among the 87 Vancouver staff on record, so it may be a nickname. And whether the principal JM remembers is Ryan Bragg.
3. JB’s Bosa names: confirm Robert is Robert Bosa (founder of Bosa Properties, Colin’s father) and Dale is Dale Bosa (Colin’s brother).
4. Stefan Hertel (ex Development Manager, Mission Group): where he went. Conor’s only words: “I lunched, and then Stefan left two weeks later, so that wasn’t fun. Maybe he’ll take us with him wherever he ends up.” A passing remark, so Conor’s follow-up, not a question for the room. Apollo on 7 Sept still shows Mission Group (since July 2024); before that Chard Development 2021–2024 and Wesgroup 2013–2021. The new firm is not public yet.
5. “Kent Arroyo” townhouses (Conor, lost) and “the turn” (Islam, undecided): project or client names. Two re-listens could not recover the first; the second is said clearly as “the turn”.
6. “Next Friday at 2” (Ian, for Arcadis): a real slot or a joke; JM did not confirm.
7. “That thing you sent me” (Omar to Ian): which item.
8. BAM: Jim clearly says “a new development group called BAM”, but nothing under that name can be found, and the only Ben Smith in BC real estate on record is a proptech executive with no Starlight history, so not him. Jim has his number. Trillium is Trillium Communities (#54443): head office Victoria, seniors’ communities across the Island and the Lower Mainland, which matches “Trillium has a lot of property”. “Sue” survives two re-listens but is not on Trillium’s leadership page; either a person there or a slurred “who”.
9. Continuum: settled from our own records. Jim’s “Gregory Inman” is Gregory Eeman, AIBC Architect (person 21266); Jeremy Beintema is a Partner (person 10383), not a principal. The partners are Lance Steele, Jeremy Beintema and Wil Wiens; Kapuscinski and Pettigrew have left; Peter Fair is Continuum Partners in Denver, a different firm. The brain holds Beintema, Wiens and Steele twice each and one junk person row named “CONTINUUM ARCHITECTURE” (21111): a merge job, not hand SQL.

Closed since the first draft: Heather Lands. Jim’s words are “GBL is doing three of the blocks, we’re working on Block B, they also have Block A and Block C” and “from my understanding, Wiki Meverhurst [WHM] has both of those jobs.” Which building is Block B, and WHM’s hold on A and C, are Jim’s own knowledge, not questions for the room. (Public record, for the file: GBL’s Parcel B at 620 West 35th is three towers of 24, 20 and 12 storeys, 612 homes; the 25/18/6-storey set is Parcel F, RH Architects.) The Fraser Mills teams are JM’s action item 9, not an unknown. The Fraser Health list is Omar’s (item 12). Jason and Kevin are Jason Stuart and Kevin Wurmlinger.

Not loaded, and why: NDY (not in the brain; the new - - create verb failed on its first real use with a SQL memory-grant error, see the duplicate-sweep notes); Omar's office-to-hotel client and the Coal Harbour hotel developer (firms not named); the San Diego wood-frame RFP client (not named); the K-12 seismic list (a qualification, not a pursuit).
